

OVATION GIVEN TO MILLERAND

When He Is Proclaimed
Elected Eleventh President of the Third French Republic.

Versailles, September 23.—(By the Associated Press.)—Alexander Millerand was invested with the executive powers of the eleventh president of the third republic today before the assembled Versailles congress in minutes after Leon Bourgeois, president of the senate, had proclaimed him elected, without the usual formality of receiving the powers from the hands of the retiring president at Elysee palace.

The complete vote was: Alexander Millerand, 695; Gustave Delory (socialist deputy from Lille department du Nord), 69. Scattering, 20. The illness of M. Deschanel, the former president, made impossible the customary ceremony at Paris, but M. Millerand received the greatest ovation at Versailles ever given a president. The tenth congress which had been rather apathetic, gave vent today to all the pent-up enthusiasm of the past five days, and cheered for several minutes.

He Was Greatly Moved.
M. Millerand, surrounded by deputies and senators, was greatly moved. He replied to the congratulations of M. Bourgeois with the assurance that he would discharge the duties of his post in accordance with the constitution. "Victorious France must rebuild its ruins and repair its wounds," he said. "We must continue a foreign policy worthy of our victory and our dead. The republican whom congress has just designated as president, will bring to the discharge of his duties all his intelligence and energy and try to be worthy the confidence of the people's representatives."

M. Millerand insisted upon shaking hands with all the deputies and senators assembled in the conference hall of Versailles palace. He then caught sight of a group of French and foreign correspondents and walked over and spoke to each in turn, shaking hands with every one of them.

Somewhat old Versailles, which, throughout the day seemed half awake to the fact that a presidential election was going on, suddenly assumed a holiday spirit. The magnificent Place d'Armes was filled with cheering crowds as the cavalcade of couriers escorting the presidential party left for Paris. Sketch of Millerand.—Alexander Millerand has long been one of the foremost figures in the political life of France, his entry into parliament dating back to 1885, and his cabinet experience to 1889, when he was a member of the Waldeck-Rousseau cabinet. His early affiliations were with the radical socialists, and he always has been keenly interested in labor questions and has fathered numerous measures for the betterment of the working world, notably the old age pension act, which became operative in 1905.

It was M. Millerand's services to his country during the great war, however, as minister of war in the Viviani cabinet, and his role in the conduct of France's foreign policy as the successor of Clemenceau in the premiership after "the tiger" retired last January, that raised him to pre-eminent eligibility for the presidency, compelling his reluctant consent to quit the premiership and stand as the candidate to succeed President Deschanel. M. Millerand was born in Paris February 10, 1859, and was educated for the bar.

Muscouge Man Held
In Bibb County Jail
On Serious Charge

Macon, Ga., September 23.—(Special.)—Walter McClelland, white man from Muscouge county, who had been held in the Bibb county jail since the middle of last month, charged with attempted criminal assault upon a prominent young woman of Columbus, was today released under a bond of $10,000, signed by his father, J. H. McClelland. The young man announced his intention of returning to Columbus, where the time of McClelland's arrest was so high against him that he was both McClelland and Richard Smith, a taxicab driver, to Macon, to prevent possible violence. Smith was released last week under a $5,000 bond, McClelland having exonerated him of blame, stating he merely hired Smith to carry him and the girl to the spot in the woods where the alleged attempt at assault was made.

HUSBAND TOO JEALOUS;
WIFE SEEKS DIVORCE

Charging that her husband was so jealous of her that he would not let her go to town with members of her own family, Mrs. Jewell M. Lankford filed suit for divorce Thursday against Omer L. Lankford. Mrs. Lankford asserts that her husband was jealous, drank and stayed out nights. She says that when she found pictures of other women in his pockets and asked him why he was so jealous, he replied that he did not know. They were married April 17, 1918, and separated July 31, this year, according to her suit. That her husband, Victor P. Morgan, struck her and beat her and then left her eight months after they were married, is the charge made by Mrs. Wilhelmina Morgan in a divorce suit filed Thursday. Judge George L. Bell set Saturday, October 2, as the date for a hearing on her request for temporary alimony. The suit was filed by Attorneys E. W. Maynard and Crenshaw and Lindsay.

LARGE "TIRING" OUTFIT
BROUGHT INTO COURT

In an attempt to prove that defects in the feed valve of the "tiring machine" caused the death of her husband, Mrs. Eva L. Wheeler, who is suing the Southern Iron and Equipment company for $40,000 damages, had brought into the courthouse Thursday a large and very heavy "tiring machine." The machine will be exhibited to the court and jurors later in the trial and in the meantime the machine remains in the courthouse. It is claimed by the plaintiff that her husband, Samuel S. Wheeler, a machinist at the Southern Iron and Equipment company, was killed as the result of carelessness on the part of the defendant company. Mr. Wheeler was killed June 18, 1917. The trial of the case began before Judge H. M. Reid in the civil division of the city court. The case will go into next week. It was expected by court officials. Mrs. Wheeler is represented by Attorneys Westmoreland and Smith. Attorneys for the defense are Rosser, Slaton, Phillips and Hopkins and Smith, Hammond and Smith.

Government Gets People's Money And Profiteers

Charge Made by Herbert in Discussing Government Profits on Postal Savings.

New York, September 23.—Herbert Hoover, who testified here today before the senate committee on reconstruction, declared he believed the aggregate of national savings would be stimulated if the government "stopped profiteering" and paid "something like an adequate rate of interest to depositors." Reports showed, he said, that profits obtained by the government in 1918, chiefly from re-deposit of postal savings bank funds in banks, were 2 1/2 per cent interest were $1,250,000, while he added, examination of any annual postal savings reports would show that depositors do not receive much more than 1 per cent interest. Mr. Hoover declared "if the whole method of payment of interest should be reorganized so as to properly distribute the profits back to the depositors. He said the postal savings banks were established for the prime purpose of enlarging the area of national savings and that the stimulus to savings was not interest return, but merely the inducement of safety.

"The real question at issue," he said, "appears to me to be not only justice to depositors, but also whether the aggregate of national savings can be increased by offering a larger return on postal savings deposits, whether more savings can be pulled out of stockpiles, waste and luxuries and put into every dollar so saved is a contribution to national welfare." Mr. Hoover said he preferred establishment of some institution modeled after the farm loan bank rather than the mortgages on new construction exempted from the income tax. He said he thought people would be willing to submit to government direction in reconstruction problems if it took the form of a campaign of education. With recuperation abroad, he said, he expected a slackening of export and consequent relieving of domestic conditions. He said this would not solve the immediate situation, but would help.

The case was set for trial in court on September 25. The case of Goussier, of 205 Lee street, whose automobile collided with that of Mrs. Harry Cohen, of Washington street, on the night of August 31, was held under a $100 bond for trial in the state court. Boyd, according to Officer Ellis, was violating both the speed and the "muffler ordinance" with his motorcycle, which he was riding out Boulevard. It is said he slowed down on signal from the officer who stepped into the street almost in front of him. Suddenly Boyd "fired" the machine at overdrive of gas, striking the officer and knocking him to the pavement. He disappeared in a cloud of dust and a storm of bullets from the officer's gun. Advertising Club Hears Interesting Talks at Luncheon

First Fall Meeting of Atlanta Ad Men's Club Reveals Determination to Advertise City.

Representing the Southern Commercial Congress, B. C. Getsinger, commissioner of commerce, Washington, D. C., made a strong appeal for the support of Atlanta in establishing the second foreign trade, "Plattsburg" Training school, to open here September 27, before the meeting of the Atlanta Advertising club at the Kimball house on Thursday.

Thursday's luncheon of the local "Ad men" was attended by approximately 150 members and marked by especially interesting talks delivered by Mr. Getsinger, A. H. Carls, heading the Southern States Phonograph company, recently brought to Atlanta, and D. W. Webb, president of the club, who has just returned from the national convention in St. Louis.

Mr. Getsinger rapidly outlined the purpose of the Pan-American commercial training, which will be offered in the "Plattsburg" school. In the course of his talk, he emphasized the shortsightedness of banking firms who send their clients to northern competitors because of a lack of sufficient knowledge relative to Pan-American commercial conditions. He pointed out the opportunity for Atlanta to assume the leadership of the south in this field, and urged every local firm to have at least one representative present at the school.

Mr. Carls made one of the most interesting informal talks which has been given the Ad men recently, telling of a new field in advertising as opened up by the latest processes in phonograph record manufacture. The speaker began by making a hasty survey of the evolution of the phonograph then outlined the type of work which will be done in the factory of the Southern States Phonograph company on Marietta street, the first factory of its kind to be established south of the Mason and Dixon line. Its commercial territory will extend from Texas to the coast and from Washington to the Gulf.

Perfecting New Method. Having perfected a new method of making small records with excellent tones out of blotting paper, created by a special process, the Emerson concern have introduced the phonograph as a new advertising agency. On one side of these non-breakable little records is placed an advertisement and on the other an actual phonograph record which tells of some phase of the commodity or person to be advertised.

These records are then distributed at will. For example, a completed disc was exhibited. Senator Harding's campaign record was demonstrated with apologies and a statement that several thousands are in process of production for Governor Cox. John W. Wainwright has ordered $1,200,000 that he may speak directly to his customers.

Another interesting product of this new concern is a "Child's Speaking Book." Large colored animals made of cardboard have fastened in their center a small record which tells about the individual animal represented. These are gathered into books, which will afford the animal kingdom and afford a most novel and instructive toy for the children. Each page contains a record bearing the animal's name.

A departure in the line of sheet music has been made which enables any one in their home to sing to the accompaniment of the best musicians in the world. The popular sheet music is reproduced in the usual printed form for the voice, while hidden in its fold is a pocket containing a record bearing the accompaniment.

Plant Soon to Open. Mr. Carls stated that certain departments of the factory will be in operation within thirty days and that every branch will be going by the end of ninety days. He issued a cordial invitation for all Atlanta visitors to the new works at 250 Marietta at that time.

Following the close of the meeting, Mr. Carls regarding the possibility of having "Atlanta recorded" made it to be made in the Ad Clubs of the World advertising the city for the National Advertising convention to be held here in June, 1921. The scheme will probably be adopted.

Mr. Carls began his business career as a banker, later was connected with the J. G. Brill car builders of Philadelphia, and partly responsible for the success of the "pay-as-you-enter" cars, and subsequently went with the Edison company. He is a personal friend of Victor H. Emerson.

During the first part of Thursday's meeting Mr. Baker, of the Lowry National bank, announced that the bank will enter upon an advertising campaign on October 1, in an effort to teach the citizens of the city all about Atlanta. The campaign will be enlivened by the offer of prizes in certain contests to be announced later.

During the course of the luncheon resolutions were passed by a unanimous standing vote deploring the death of William J. Lowenstein and extending the sympathy of the club to his brother, Frank Lowenstein, who is vice president of the Associated Ad Clubs of the World.

ROYAL JEWELS, WORTH MILLIONS, IN SWISS BANKS

Geneva, September 23.—It was stated on reliable authority today that the jewels belonging to the Romanoffs, Hapsburgs and Hohenzollerns, deposited for safety with Swiss banks and private firms, are worth $7,000,000 pounds sterling, while the jewels sold or pawned in Switzerland since 1911 by these families amounted to double this sum. These totals do not include jewel transactions by former princely families of Russia, Austria-Hungary and Germany.

Deaf Mutes Crowd Terminal Station On Way to School

Youthful Spirits of 75 Boys and Girls Expressed by Silent Laughter and Soundless Language.

Noise and a crowd of children are synonymous in the minds of many. James C. Harris was surrounded by more than 70-five boys and girls, ranging in age from 7 to 20, in the foyer of the Terminal station. In Mr. Harris' thoughts noise and children are unassociated terms.

The foyer of the station presented a pitiful scene yesterday morning. Youngsters were playing upon the seats and along the aisles, but their youthful spirits were expressed by silent laughter and their playful plans communicated by a soundless language. They were merely a few of the 219 deaf mutes on their way to attend the Georgia School for the Deaf at Cave Springs, of which Mr. Harris is superintendent.

With a strange rapidly hundreds of hands seemed to be moving according to some intricate design as they talked with each other about their school time which has drawn to a close.

In addition to the pupils of the school there were present countless alumni who live here in the city who had gone down to talk with the teachers and children about their old school. They too spoke in the sign language of the little ones.

Explains Work of School. Miss Nettie McDaniel, assistant superintendent and special instructor, explained the organization of the school, stating that they conduct a dual education daily, the work of a primary school and that of a vocational institution. Three-quarters of the students study the "oral" method, or lip reading, while one-fourth use the manual or sign language.

A young Atlanta girl, who was afflicted as a deaf mute, went to the Cave Springs school some years ago and learned to read the lips by the Mueller-Waller method, preparing herself for further education. This past year she graduated from the Fulton High school, having maintained her place beside girls capable of speaking and hearing from childhood.

Miss McDaniel emphasized the difficulty of handling a little child who can neither speak nor hear. When they come to their minds are often perfect blanks save for some distorted impressions which are destined to never be secret. Objects and people have no significance other than that assigned by the unguided working of immature mind. The senses, with the exception of sight, are denied to all progress whatsoever. English, the most difficult of all modern languages, must be taught them. To the deaf mute it is a foreign tongue. The methods used for teaching the language and for training the use of the vocal organs, are most tedious. Repetition is the fundamental principle and unlimited patience the prerequisite. For instance, to teach a child to pronounce the vowel "o," an instructor forms her mouth properly, sitting before the pupil, and holds a lighted candle in front of the child's mouth. When success attends the effort the candle is blown out.

The Nature of Sound. To reveal the nature of sound, its vibratory qualities, and the rhythm of music the pupils are made to place their hands upon the wooden sides. The instructor plays and the children feel the rhythmic vibrations, often keeping time with their feet in a sort of dance.

W. F. Cruselle, a trustee of the school, mentioned the tendency of the pupils to drop the spoken word after learning it at the school and resorting wholly to the use of signs. For this reason no sign language is permitted in the classrooms, except in the case of those who do not grasp the oral method.

At the station yesterday were several married couples who had once been students in the school. They came with their little children. Mr. Harris stated that there is only one case of deaf child of deaf parents in the school.

The vocations offered are dairy-farming, shoe-making, carpentry, painting and domestic work. The attempt is made to turn every student out capable of self-support.

Of the 219 students registered for this season, 179 are white and 40 are black. The state supports the school, furnishing lodging, board, tuition, clothing and even travel expenses where the parents are unable to pay it themselves. There are six-teen instructors on the staff.

PRICES ARE REDUCED BY MAIL ORDER HOUSES

Chicago, September 23.—Price cuts were announced today by Sears-Roebuck & Co. and Montgomery Ward & Co., two of the largest mail order houses in the country. Sears-Roebuck cuts reductions range from 20 to 30 per cent, and those of Montgomery Ward & Co. are from 10 to 20 per cent.

Some of the Sears-Roebuck cuts: Sheet 45 per cent, standard muslin 60 per cent, automobile tires 25 per cent, women's shoes 20 per cent, men's overalls 40 per cent, jumpers 10 to 20 per cent. Although no radical cuts in foods were announced, prices in sugar, rolled oats, prunes and a few other articles were reduced from 5 to 10 per cent.

In discussing the price reductions, Julius Rosenwald, president of Sears-Roebuck, said: "Material reductions which manufacturers have made during the last week or so are being passed on to our customers. We do this gladly, because it may be the means of lowering living costs all along the line."

Mind Your Own Business.

(From Answers) A Yorkshire man, who was very bow-legged, entered a tailor's shop to be measured for a pair of trousers. He selected the cloth, and the tailor proceeded to measure him. When he pressed the tape down the "bow" of the leg, the customer tapped him on the arm, and said: "Owd on, mate! Thee mak' 'em straight! Ah'll bend 'em!"

For Twenty Years Unlighted Cigar McLendon's Joy

Georgia's Secretary of State Likes the Taste of Good Tobacco, Although His Physician Won't Let Him Smoke.

BY MARION MENDRICK.

"It's just the taste of good tobacco." For twenty years or more, Guy McLendon, Georgia's secretary of state, has lived each day and part of every night with an unlighted cigar between his lips, and he explains it all with the remark that he likes good tobacco.

If you ever go around the capitol and see Guy McLendon, you will find him with the red flame of a cigar between his lips, and never less you see the secretary of state when he is in communication with King Morpheus—and then the faithful luxury may be found close by.

He lives his life of happiness, and believes in keeping his cigar between his lips, the latest legal point to catch his attention being the legislation of 1918, which requires all election managers to seal the results of the general election for secretary of state, treasurer and comptroller general each in a separate envelope and mail them to him. Without opening these packages and the envelopes containing results of the governor's election, Mr. McLendon is required to place them in a vault, where they remain until the second day of the session of the state legislature, when they are opened by the president of the senate and speaker of the lower house.

If you are a close observer, or one endowed with curiosity, maybe you have wondered why the cigar the secretary of state always has with him remains unlighted.

Over twenty years ago, according to Mr. McLendon, physicians advised him he would have to refrain from enjoying the luxury of cigarettes. Whereupon, the patient, being of a slightly determined nature, compromised by agreeing to use cigars. When he satisfied himself that he could not use cigars, he then made another concession. He wouldn't smoke at all, but he'd keep a cigar between his lips all the same.

So, if you see Guy McLendon with an unlighted cigar in his mouth, do not ask him to have a light, for he'll answer:

"I like the taste of good tobacco. That's the only reason I use cigars." And then he will launch into a discussion on how to select good tobacco.

WESLEYAN SOPHS
IMPOSE RULINGS ON POOR "FRESHIES"

Macon, Ga., September 23.—(Special.)—Constitution reigned among the 165 freshmen at Wesleyan college today when the rules for sophomore week were announced. Here are some of the rules imposed on the new students: Middy suits only are permitted; no ties, no pins and no rolls; each new girl will appear wearing either a baby cap or a baby bib; hair must be parted in the middle, left side plaited, green bow at end of plait, right side puffed. This applies to bob hair particularly. Absolutely no paint nor powder, nor jewelry permitted; must salute all upperclassmen; all food and drink at meals must be taken with spoon, only; all new girls will line up on back porch outside of dining room for all meals and sucking their thumbs will march in backward until further notice.

PARTING OF CABLE
RESULTS IN DEATH OF ISHAM ANDREWS

Macon, Ga., September 23.—(Special.)—Isham Andrews, aged 36 years, a nephew of Judge J. B. Andrews, of Macon, was instantly killed today when struck by a cable at the plant of the John Sant Sons Mining company, at Dry Branch. Andrews was supervising the pulling of a post when the cable parted and struck him with great force. His arm was broken and his head crushed. Besides his wife, he leaves three children and one sister, Mrs. Isham Smith, of Slocum. The body was brought to Macon.

New Rules Set Down
For Personal Conduct
At Georgia State Fair

Macon, Ga., September 23.—(Special.)—The young people who have been accustomed to promenade up and down the midway at the Georgia state fair with feather ticklers, whips, confetti and "return balls," making themselves obnoxious generally, will have to find a new form of amusement at the coming state fair. An edict has gone out from the mayor and council that this particular class of novelties are to be barred at the fair this year. Provision has been made for punishment in the recorder's court of anyone selling or using any of the things enumerated above. Rigid rules governing the operation of lunch stands and soft drink stands have also been adopted and will be rigidly enforced. There has been much complaint in previous years of the insanitary conditions prevailing around these refreshment stands and the city health department has decided to bring about a change.

MACON OFFICIALS ARREST ATLANTAN ON THEFT CHARGE

Macon, Ga., September 23.—(Special.)—W. E. Brunner, of Atlanta, express messenger on the Atlanta-Savannah division of the Central of Georgia railroad, was lodged in jail here today on a warrant charging him with larceny from the American Railway Express company. This brings the number of arrests made in the company's campaign to stop wholesale thefts to thirty. The sum Brunner is alleged to have stolen is not definitely stated, but it is said the amount runs into four figures. Brunner had failed to make bond up to a late hour tonight. He refused to discuss his case other than to call the special agents of the company "tricksters." Superintendent H. M. Smith, of the Atlanta division, who has been here several days, said tonight that every special agent, route agent and other official of the company are engaged in a campaign to weed out undesirable employees.

Vilna, in Russia, is probably the only place in the world where geese are shot. The geese are made to walk first through tar and afterwards through sand. Each goose is thus provided with a durable pair of boots and is enabled to make the long journey to the goose fair at Warsaw without getting sore feet or requiring the services of a chiropodist.

Macon Melon Sales
On Big Increase,
But Cops Interfere

Alleged Manufacturer of Season's Best "Bootlegging" Stunt Surrenders to Bibb Officials.

Macon, Ga., September 23.—(Special.)—A. M. Mathews, who is alleged to have manufactured containers resembling watermelons and filled them with "moonshine" whiskey, selling them for $10 each, gave himself up to the federal authorities here today and was released under a $1,000 bond. Several weeks ago Mathews' "watermelon" patch was raided by the prohibition agents, who are said to have found a distilling outfit under a dwelling house and the clay melons planted in a field near the house. The hoax was discovered when a negro dropped one of the "melons."

Mathews' father-in-law, W. E. Strickler, was arrested at the time, but Mathews escaped. Mathews lives near Empire, Ga. Consul K. S. Patton reports from Belgrade that the metric system is in general as well as official use throughout the whole of the Kingdom of the Serbs, Croats and Slovenes. With the exception of the oke (about 2 3/4 pounds), which is used in southern Serbia, no units other than the metric units are used, even locally.

A "JOY RIDE" ENDING.

The tendency of the day is toward the normal in business and industry, as well as in the living habits of the people, there is no mistake.

The country cannot be wholly restored to pre-war conditions. Reconstruction problems demand a new pace, and more aggression. There is a spirit of a new Americanism that has naturally evolved from the war that will open up new trade channels, and bring about a closer co-ordination of industrial conditions.

But the patent fact remains that the "joy ride" that followed the relieving of the war tension is about over. It came in response to a mental reaction following the greatest struggle in all history, and it stamped the country. Extravagances led such a merry pace that inflation became natural. It was a psychic wave that even the government agencies could not arrest.

In this carnival of reaction, following the lifting of the suspense of war unrest was created, and the advancing costs of living carried that unrest to almost every home in the nation.

The department of justice began its campaign to stamp out profiteering, and it was successful in establishing the fact that in many, if indeed not in most, of cases complained of, the alleged extortion was nothing but the result of high production costs, high wages, high taxes, and high everything else. But despite that fact, the public had a bad taste in its mouth.

Then a campaign of education for more conservatism, by dealer and consumer, was begun; and gradually a better and saner and safer condition generally is beginning to prevail.

There is every indication that sweeping price reductions, which have already begun among the larger manufacturers, will help to steady the pendulum.

A short while ago the American Woolen Mills, the largest in the world, announced a general reduction of 20 per cent on its products.

This has been followed by the reduction of 20 to 33-1/3 per cent of all the products of the Ford Motor company.

Now, the Associated Press carries the following significant announcement from Manchester, New Hampshire—

"A reduction of 33-1/3 per cent in the price of manufactured cotton goods was announced today by the Amoskeag Manufacturing company of this city. The present weekly production of the company, which employs 10,000 operatives in its cotton departments, is 4,000,000 yards."

These reductions are significant, and plainly evidence the tendency toward readjustment to normal business conditions, that the country needs after its two-year "joy ride."

If congress will now put the country on a legal peace basis, simplify the income and profit taxes, repeal the luxury taxes and the excises on various manufactures, and in addition pass strong laws as to price stamping, length of retention of cold storage products, the licensing of corporations engaged in interstate commerce, and enact other remedial legislation, the nation will soon settle down to an era of long and unprecedented prosperity on a firm, conservative, and sane, yet progressive, basis.

THE PRICE OF COAL.

The activity of the department of justice, not only in Georgia, but throughout the country, in preventing excessive profits in coal will be universally commended.

The federal trade commission recently investigated the expense of producing coal in Kentucky, and from figures presented by fifty-seven operators found the cost to be $2.73 at the mines. In the West Virginia fields the cost of production was ascertained to be $3.40 per ton; and with $2 freight added, $5.40 at tidewater.

Bunker coal was selling at the time at $20 to $22 per ton. A material recession in price has already ensued, due no doubt to threatened prosecutions under the Lever law.

The activity of the department of justice following these investigations has resulted in a general steadying of the coal market as well as bringing to surface unreported accumulations in stocks, so that the country may not suffer this winter either by profiteering, or by an unfair manipulation of "supplies and demands."

Fuel is like bread and water. It is indispensable. The public must have its fuel, regardless of cost, and extortion in this commodity is forcing money out of people at the point of necessity.

To that end the public should be protected, if it takes the co-ordination of every department of the federal government to do so.

FOREIGN TRADE SCHOOL.

This country is awakening to the call of foreign trade.

The nation's future prosperity depends largely on a foreign outlet for her manufactured products.

Atlanta, being a city of diversified industry, her manufacturing plants are small but many, and they have in the past looked more to the nearer fields of consumption than to Latin-America, a natural foreign outlet.

The Southern Commercial congress, a southern institution, will conduct a short but complete course in every phase of foreign trade under the auspices of the chamber of commerce, beginning on the 27th inst., and running four weeks, the charge covering actual cost of the school.

Some of the most eminent instructors will participate in the work, and it is done to increase our interest in foreign trade and to secure quickly, through this "plattsburg," a corps of fitted workers who shall be the future leaders in Atlanta's foreign trade.

Atlanta's manufacturers, brokers and others interested in foreign trade would find it to their advantage to send one or more of their employees to this school, paying their tuition fee, if necessary, and releasing them from part of their duties for the time being in order to make their work in the school more effective.

Foreign trade is coming to Atlanta. Why not prepare now for full participation in its benefits?

A DEBT-PAYING DOLLAR.

Commenting on an article by a magazine writer on "The Value of the Dollar," with which the quarrel is that it "doesn't go far enough now." The St. Paul Pioneer Press says—

"The writer wants America to get rid of the dangerous and half-baked idea that a dollar is only worth a half or a third of what it was. His philosophy is to remember that it is only the spent dollar that has lost this part of its purchasing power, and that the saved dollar is just as valuable as ever it was."

That doesn't contemplate the miserly hoarding of money; for we may still have what we need and yet "lay by" something for the rainy day.

It means a wise thriftiness, and that, however small the present purchasing power of the dollar may be—

"—what is certain and beyond all doubt is that the saved dollar has the same debt-paying power as of old. It may not buy as much in the store, but when it comes to paying a note or lifting a mortgage it will go as far as in the cheapest period in our history."

That's where the dollar counts big on the bank book!

It's the same old ever-present help when trouble knocks at the door—the debt-payer and the world's friend in need.

It isn't worth while to waste words as to what the dollar may not do now, but to do the work which makes the dollars, and "put by" as many of them as possible.

The grouchy ex-kaiser has made a new will—probably to let the few curious ones know that he's alive and "kicking."

Work-Day for the Orphan.

(Saturday, September 25.)

I.

There are "Little Orphan Annie" in the old Decatur Home that shelters them as some day may that "bright, celestial dome."

Where they dream there are the angels—where the lights hover stream And Faith hears heavenly music, and Heaven is no dream.

II.

There are "Little Men" there, sheltered from the life-storms and the Night—

Country-builders of the future and the Prophets of the Light! And hands of Help must hold them to the brighter, coming day—the shadows from their sunlight, wipe the tears of grief away.

III.

They are children of that Kingdom which in human hearts we see, Of which the one called "Master" said: "Did them come unto Me!"

In trust He gave them to you. To that living trust be true! 'Tis a little child shall lead you to the heaven of heavens for you!

"Just Listen at Them!"

The bright column-man of The Arkansas Gazette says:

"After a long vacation, we start this durned foolishness again."

And right below that announcement appears this from The Searcy Citizen:

"The All Over Arkansas Man has uncorked his six months 'can' and has turned loose on the desert air his effulgent, effervescent and sparkling shafts of sarcastic sassiness. The innocent, quire-headed editors and lame-duck correspondents of the state have our sincere condolence."

In the Rushing Race.

In the rushing race for office he laid 'em on the shelf. But, running everlastingly, he couldn't stop himself.

John Gilpin never flew. On the nag the village knew, Like that chap! The world went dizzy when the race it tried to view!

Springtime and summer he went it bold and blind: Kept the dust a-flying on the fellows far behind.

Never time to stay. 'Twas "People, clear the way!" And I reckon he'll be running when they blow for Judgment Day!

To the Sons of Rest.

"Exercise," says The Thomasville Times-Enterprise, "is a necessity, not when you can work and get the same effective results."

Another Knock.

"When women are in congress, doubtless The Congressional Record will be abolished. It will prove inadequate," says The Dublin Courier-Herald.

When Winter's Here.

When Winter's here, to see us. We'll have our time and chance if he doesn't keep the sweet girls from comin' to the dance.

Boosting the Home-Town.

"One of the prettiest rainbows ever seen here was visible last Friday evening," reports The Altoona Tribune. "It was one of the brightest we ever saw, and we heard others make the same expression. Altoona's rainbows are far superior to other towns' rainbows."

WRITING

When God Instructed Man to write, Then, Life took on a new delight; For, such a joy it is to feel, Our inmost thoughts we may reveal; And such a pride we have to know Those thoughts, recorded, endless flow.

Man, first, inscribed his words on stone By summons of the Lord, alone; Mount Sinai's Ten Commandments, blent.

We write in letters manifest—To show the People what to do, And what, with prayer's help, to eschew.

Devices since, have oft been tried—While writing thus is defiled—Till ink (exhaustion) has been used; All other fluids are refused.

In place of this, through countless years, 'Twill flourish—ere it disappears.

CHARLES EDGEWORTH JONES, Augusta, Ga.

With Janie in the Rain.

Some folks 'll growl an' grumble— 'Speckly' them that live in town— When the skies are black an' threatenin'!

An' the rain's a-fallin' down; But the elements kin bluster. They frowned on me in vain When I held the ol' umbrella.

Over Janie, in the rain. She looked jest like a rosebud

That was wet with mornin' dew. An' her mouth was so enticin'!

An' her eyes so bright an' true. That I drew her closely to me. At the turnin' of the lane,

An' beneath the ol' umbrella I kissed Janie, in the rain.

Oh, I wouldn't swap that minute For a hundred thousand years! Now I've lost her. I can see her

Through a mist of hazy tears. An' it seems like, jest in fancy, I kin touch her lips again.

An' I think I'm back in Heaven. With Janie, in the rain.

Warfield and Not Cuyler Responsible for Safeguards In New Transportation Law

BY JAMES A. HOLLOMON

My attention has been directed to an appeal being sent out by a committee from the Association of American Railway Executives in New York, asking contributions to a testimonial to its chairman, Thomas DeWitt Cuyler.

The suggestion is made that "a handsome piece of old English plate," suitably inscribed, etc., be presented to him, as a testimonial to his good work in rescuing the railroads from the dangerous situation into which they had drifted.

No doubt Mr. Cuyler has saved his association well, and is worthy of any confidence placed in him.

There is one paragraph in the appeal, however, that is startling in view of the facts regarding the work of the railroad "heads" in behalf of the passage of the transportation act, by which the carriers of the country passed back into private control and operation.

It reads as follows: "During his chairmanship the transportation act became a law and the commerce commission has made substantial increases in rates under that law. Mr. Cuyler deserves the thanks of the owners of securities of the country and of all the railroad officers who have worked with him in the unselfish work he has performed during the past two years."

It is true that during Mr. Cuyler's chairmanship of the Railroad Executives the transportation act became a law, but as a Washington correspondent, who was a close observer of the progress of this measure, through its long and arduous hearings, both in the committees and on the floor, and its final passage with amendments, I know that Mr. Cuyler not only did not assist in its enactment but that he and some of his associates attempted to defeat the fundamental rate-making and financial provisions of the act.

The fact is that this measure was initiated by the Association of the Owners of Railroad Securities, of which S. Davies Warfield, of Baltimore, is president, and that Mr. Warfield, himself, did more to get this measure through congress than any other dozen influences combined.

If it had not been for Mr. Warfield's management and for his indefatigable efforts there would have been no transportation act of the kind passed.

In the preliminary stages of this legislation it became apparent that there was a direct conflict in policy between the National Association of Owners of Railroad Securities, headed by Mr. Warfield, and the Association of Railway Executives, headed by Mr. Cuyler.

These two organizations took widely divergent views several times at critical stages in the progress of this legislation.

One of the associations stood for the rights of the stockholders who, unorganized, could not fight for themselves.

The other association, unquestionably actuated by the best of motives, viewed the whole matter from the standpoint of the operating rather than from the ownership end.

In the list of those whose names are signed to the letter to the railway executives asking for contributions to the fund for Mr. Cuyler's testimonial to express the "thanks of the owners of securities and of the railroad officers" for his work during the past two years, is Daniel Willard, of the B. & O. railway system, who, it will be recalled, resigned from the steering committee of the Association of Railway Executives because Mr. Cuyler and his associates attempted to defeat the rate-making and financial provisions then under discussion.

I watched Mr. Warfield's work in that campaign.

He practically moved his residence to Washington in an unselfish fight for the stockholders, big and small, of the railroad corporations, and if anybody deserves any testimonial for untiring labor in the interest of the stockholders who were being so sorely pressed that the value of their stock was shrinking out of sight, it is the president of the association that was organized for the sole purpose of protecting and stabilizing the security of the carriers of the country. That man is S. Davies Warfield. He simply made a clean case to congress, concealing nothing, and asking only for justice.

I say this without any purpose to disparage the excellent work of Mr. Cuyler in his other functioning branches of his great organization, but solely to give credit where credit is due.

THE DOOR OF DIFFICULT THINGS.

On my way to work I pass a place where they are excavating for a new building. I have stood and marveled at the way they get ready to mount a great skyscraper.

But there was something striking that caught my eye this morning. Here is what it said:

ARTHUR A. JOHNSON DIFFICULT FOUNDATIONS. Here was a man who was not merely a contractor, but one who advertised the fact that he made a specialty of the DIFFICULT thing.

The fellow could take the easy jobs. He was the one that was called "difficult." He was the one that was called "difficult."

I shall watch the progress of that building with great interest. And it will stand long after everyone who reads this little talk, as well as the one who has written it, shall have become a part of the dust of the past.

I would like to be known as a door of "difficult" things, wouldn't you?

But when you come to think of it, about the only ones who ever become known, or who ever live in our minds, are the men who really do the things that are called "difficult" things—over and over again.

And simply say that it is "easy," and you will be overwhelmed by the members of the sect today, or him who must be prepared to fill a difficult job—who must work long and late—and you MAY get the man!

The Everybody cries day and night for the "difficult" things. The STRONG man or woman will answer that call.

Today's Events.

Memorial exercises commemorating the 16th anniversary of the death of the Schenckfelders in Pennsylvania, otherwise known as Geddeschick Tag, will be observed by the members of the sect today.

The delegates who have been participating in the congress of chambers of commerce of the United States and Canada are to leave for their tour of the continent today.

The International financial conference, summoned by the council of the league of nations, is scheduled to begin its sessions tomorrow in Brussels.

Representatives of traveling men's organizations in many parts of the country have arranged to start tomorrow for Marion, Ohio, for an audience with Senator Harding, the republican presidential nominee.

William J. Bryan is to address the International Congress Against Alcoholism in Washington this evening and it is rumored that he may embrace the occasion to break his silence on the San Francisco convention and the coming election.

Ing the sun baths and rest cure for TBC, having slept out day and night, I am now on my feet, and exercise and very soon expect to be allowed to go home for a visit. But I am not yet out of the hospital, and I am not yet out of the hospital, and I am not yet out of the hospital.

ANSWER—Time, the great healer, will bleach it all too soon. Seems to me that every man who is satisfied by a trade in which he has exchanged tuberculosis for a simple arrangement to have the hair dyed darker—friends will think the sun did it.

BODIES OF TWENTY AMERICAN HEROES ARRIVE IN ATLANTA

The bodies of twenty American soldiers from the cemeteries of France arrived in Atlanta Thursday morning to be sent under an armed military escort to cities in Georgia, Florida, Louisiana, Alabama and Tennessee. The bodies of six Georgia boys were included in the train, which came from the United States State capital in Montgomery to the railroad quarters at St. Nazaire, France.

The following is a list of the men whose remains were sent from Atlanta:

A new type of bars designed to prevent the escape of hollow metal, filled with water. These pipes, connected with a central pump and electrically heated, are used to seal the hole. Thus the slightest leakage of any bar would cause a powerful jet of water to spurt in continuation of the welding. In almost any case, it is possible. Also the fact that there was a leakage somewhere would be detected by the pump and lead to speedy investigation.

FALL DIAMOND PRACTICE FOR VANDERBILT

TRAVELERS WIN ON HOME GROUNDS

FOUR MEN OF PETREL SQUAD HURT

LADIES' DAY AT PONY.
As has hitherto been the custom, Friday will be observed as Ladies' day at the polo grounds. The details of the Cleveland and the Brooklyn-Boston games will be called at the game, it has been announced. Details of the first-named game were called yesterday at the park.

BY JOE BUTTERLY.
The fourth game of the Columbia-Atlanta series will be played this afternoon at Ponce de Leon park, and as has been the case in the first three games, another thriller is expected to develop from the fray. The Crackers have annexed three in a row, but it took the veriest brand of fielding and hitting for them to turn the trick.

The contest yesterday was abundant with thrills and interest was always at the highest pitch. A pitcher's battle, a fielding duel between the two clubs and an all-around exhibition of superb playing was dished out to the fans, who came out to watch the diamond activities. For five innings, the Crackers saw as good a scoreless game as has been played in any team's backyard and for the remaining six frames there was the perpetual question mark as to the ultimate outcome until this query was solved by the two Freds of the Atlanta team in the twelfth.

Markie May Work.
Today's crowd should see Clint Markie back on the slab for the home team, while it is probable that Larry Cheney, the veteran big leaguer, who gave the Crackers so much worry in the initial engagement, will mount the rubber for the visiting troupe. If Markie is not used today, it will come to the lot of Johnny Suggs to have the Spalding berry to the Salsy leaguers and if the Crackers are as puzzled over the left-handed delivery as most of the Crackers seemed to be yesterday, Suggs is overdue for the fourth game.

Series, in which three consecutive games are won by one run leads are as scarce in baseball as highballs in the high school drink shops. And when, after two games being decided by one run in the eighth and ninth innings, respectively, the third goes twelve frames, only to be stopped by a couple of swats into no man's land.

DEFECTIVE ABSORPTION OF MINERALS CAUSED BY INDIGESTION

Ferraline Relieves Indigestion, Corrects Stomach Disorder, and Supplies the Body With Minerals That Build Blood, Bone and Tissue.

Many ordinary foods contain the minerals necessary to the body, but unless the digestive organs are working properly the system cannot absorb these minerals, and the bodily supply is exhausted, resulting in loss of vitality, general run-down condition, and such disorders as rheumatism, kidney trouble and anemia.

Ferraline corrects the cause of indigestion and stomach trouble, and at the same time supplies delicately combined minerals in just the right proportions for the system's needs. The minerals in Ferraline are easily assimilated by delicate constitutions, for they are combined by nature, the greatest healer of all.

If you feel weak and languid, if your work has ceased to interest you, and you no longer have the vigor and sparkle of youth, you should start today taking Ferraline. It will rejuvenate your system.

Nashville, Tenn., September 23.—(Special.)—Inauguration of the policy of fall baseball practice at Vanderbilt has been announced by Coach Byrd Douglas, with a view of selecting material for next season. It will not interfere in any way with football on Dudley field, as practice has been arranged in the local Southern league park, and is especially planned to take care of many Vanderbilt students and prospective students who hope to be on the varsity team next season, but have little interest in football.

The official reporting date for baseball candidates has been set for Monday, and the practices will extend over a period of approximately three weeks. At the conclusion of the actual training period, a "Round Robin tournament" will be held between teams selected by the coach with a view to determining the qualities of the various candidates under actual playing conditions.

Prep schools have been invited to send players for the practice work and participate in the tourney with a view of lining up formidable material for next spring, and a large number of prospects are expected to turn out.

The fall training has been found successful in other colleges, especially in the far west, where the climate permits of play until late in the winter, but its introduction here will prove a decided innovation among southern colleges.

The series takes on an aspect of "very good."

The composite personnel of the two clubs is certainly deserving of the dividends, which have accrued from the sale of tickets, and have shown the best brand of baseball they were capable of, which happened, incidentally, to be superlative. Erratic fielding was conspicuous yesterday by its absence and with the exception of the first day the visiting benchmen of the Salsy circuit have evidenced a proficiency in handling the horsehide-bound Spalding berry, which has not been wielded in any manner, except futilely, and the Cracker outworks have been given extensive exercise in chasing their drives.

The custom of throwing rice over a newly-married pair originated in India. The Hindus thought that the rice, as an offering to the gods, thrown over the happy pair, would please the holy ones and cause them to bless the union.

Little Rock, September 23.—With the third game of the post-season series between the Little Rock Travelers, composed of players forming the pennant-winning team of the Southern association, and Fort Worth, champions of the Texas league, transferred to this city today, Little Rock won, 5 to 2. The series now stands two to one in favor of Fort Worth.

The Travelers drove Pate to the box in the third inning. Fort Worth scored in the first inning. With two out Williams singled. Yellowhorse caught him napping off first. He scored on Kraft's triple. The Texas scored again in the sixth when Stow was hit, took second on Williams' long fly to Miller and scored while Kraft was forcing Sears at second.

Travelers Make Two In Second.
Little Rock forged ahead with two runs in the second. Wano hit a hot one at Hoffman and took second when the latter threw late and wild to first. Brotemm and Hunter were easy outs, but McGinnis, Yellowhorse, Gleason and Moore singled in the third. Miller doubled and Wachtel succeeded Pate in the box for Fort Worth. Wachtel permitted Miller to score from third.

Singles by Brotemm, Hunter and McGinnis scored another Little Rock run in the fifth. The Travelers made their fifth and final run in the sixth on Moore's single. Harper's out and Miller's single.

BY KID KIMS.
The loss of four men from the varsity squad through injuries received in this week's scrimmage, and two of these for the entire season, has been a heavy setback to the petrel squad, and is only lessened by the hope that two of the injured will be back in harness in time to participate in the Tech game of October 2.

Parr, a first year man, who has been going with the best of the regulars, and who is rated as one of the best men from the freshman ranks, was injured in the first scrimmage of the year at Oglethorpe, and will possibly be out a week. But it remained for Wednesday's scrimmage to result in the loss that has cast the most gloom about the petrel camp. Cooper, who for two years has been one of the mainstays of the petrel line, and who had ran regularly at full for the first team this fall, received a broken ankle which probably loses him to the squad for the season. This was the second injury of the year, for far that resulted in the loss of a first string man for the season.

Reeves Out for Few Days.
Reeves, who played at end last year, and probably the greatest defensive man of the team, was hurt in Tuesday's scrimmage, and will be out for some days. As an end, Reeves ranks with the best in the south, and his loss to the team in the first big game of the season would be a severe setback to the petrel chances. As his injuries are not believed to be serious, he should be out in the next five or six days, though.

Coach Kaleksa, who, some years back, played an end at Syracuse, has been added to the coaching staff, and this addition, with Coaches Elcock and Anderson, will give Oglethorpe university a coaching staff of any in the south.

Kaleksa Former Star.
Coach Kaleksa was a regular at the end position of the Syracuse university team for three years, and Oglethorpe has taken a big stride toward putting athletics on an even keel with the best in the country by securing this former prominent football player as an assistant to Coach Elcock.

The first varsity did not get in any of the scrimmage work yesterday, and probably the entire team will be out for the week. The scrubs took on the second varsity team in the afternoon, and two teams, with the scrubs holding their own, and nothing and nothing count for the afternoon.

The arrangements are concurrent with the proposed plans of L. C. Jones, local citizen, who is the father of the Piedmont park golf movement. Prizes will be given by prominent citizens to the city winners of the events.

It is definitely stated that the course will be completed by the first of Dave Gillespie, general manager of parks. The course will be at the liberty of Atlanta enthusiasts of the game, and small fees, will be charged to citizens for the use of the course. The sum of $10 will purchase the privilege of using the course for a period of one year.

Tourney Will Bring Array of Stars.
The Southern open will bring to Atlanta the most classy group of golfers that the south has ever seen. The players will be here in abundance, and picking winners will be a task for the fans. The meet will incur the familiarity with pros, players, as well as the course at East Lake, and the mind and the technique of the game, together with a faculty such as Hugh Fullerton possesses for baseball, and Walter Camp for the pigskin pastime.

Nevertheless, Bobby Jones will be the prime favorite from the Atlanta point of view, and the mere fact he knows the East Lake course thoroughly, and will be assured of a moral support of the gallery in unison, but he will have the levellest and coolest heads and experienced golfers to go up against. Bobby has been practicing extensively on the course, and knows every bunker and rough.

East Lake Course To Close Today

It has been announced that the East Lake golf course will be closed, beginning today at 6 o'clock, to all members of the Atlanta Athletic club who are not entered in the southern open, and that it will remain closed until the 1st of October.

Atlanta Golf Stars Off for Gainesville.

Atlanta's contributions to golf's hall of fame have accepted invitations to take part in the inaugural of the Chattahoochee Valley Golf club this afternoon at Gainesville. The Atlanta stars will be playing for the event. Bobby Jones and Perry Adair are the most conspicuous in the amateur class to do the exhibition work for the club and Douglas Edgar, the Druid Hills pro, will be the only professional to take the trip.

Others who are going along are Charlie Seiple, winner of the city title, Milton Dargatz, Jr., and Tess Bradshaw, all of whom are among the best known of Atlanta's golfers. Exhibition matches will be played between 3 and 6 o'clock and varied forms of entertainments will be given in honor of the occasion.

PROBE OF IRELAND BY U.S. COMMITTEE

One Hundred Persons Named to Study and Report on Conditions in the Island.

New York, September 23.—(Special.)—The U.S. committee announced today that the selection of the membership of the committee of one hundred on Ireland, formed on invitation of The Nation for the purpose of investigating and reporting publicly upon conditions in Ireland, with especial reference to atrocities, has been completed.

Public hearings are to be held in Washington by a commission of five members of the committee. The personnel of this commission has not been announced. Five United States senators, Johnson and Phelan, of California; Spencer, of Missouri; Ashurst, of Arizona, and Walsh, of Massachusetts, as well as four governors, Edwards, of New Jersey; Carey, of Wyoming; Frazier, of North Dakota, and Campbell, of Arizona, have accepted places on the committee, which is made up otherwise of persons prominent in the discussion of public questions.

It is announced that Sir Auckland Geddes, the British ambassador, and Professor Eamonn De Valera, as representatives of England and Ireland have been invited to provide the committee with information and to submit lists of persons who should be called as witnesses.

The Nation states a reply to both favorable and adverse comments, with respect to the proposed investigation that "it has undertaken the project in the conviction that anything which jeopardizes the relations of the United States with foreign powers, or which tends to breed international ill feeling, is a proper subject of inquiry by and on behalf of American citizens."

The object of such inquiry should be the determination, so far as possible, of the truth or falsity of the allegations which tend to cause ill feeling to the end that, if responsibility for the charges is happy conditions may be made clear, and that, if false, the allegations may be publicly shown to be such.

The per capita debt of Norway at the beginning of 1920 was $31.11. At the end of 1920 it was $31.11. At the end of 1921 it was $31.11. At the end of 1922 it was $31.11. At the end of 1923 it was $31.11. At the end of 1924 it was $31.11. At the end of 1925 it was $31.11. At the end of 1926 it was $31.11. At the end of 1927 it was $31.11. At the end of 1928 it was $31.11. At the end of 1929 it was $31.11. At the end of 1930 it was $31.11.

STILLS DESTROYED BY RAIDING PARTIES
The capture and destruction of two illicit distilleries, 250 gallons of beer, a small quantity of whisky and various still accessories were reported by a raiding party of federal prohibition agents who returned last night from an expedition into Cobb county.

The raid was under the direction of Assistant Southern Supervising Federal Prohibition Enforcement Officer G. T. Hardeman. Other officers participating in the raid were Agents W. G. Whitley and George Hicks. Deputy Sheriff Sanders and Maddox, of Cobb county, accompanied them.

Another party returning from raids in the mountainous sections reported that in one day's time they netted them three automobiles, six men, five distilleries and 440 gallons of whisky. No arrests were made in the Cobb county raid.

Babe Ruth Whiffs With Bases Loaded In Exhibition Game

Baltimore, September 23.—"Babe" Ruth, returning to his home town here today, where 10,000 fans hoped to see the famous native son produce at least one circuit clout, struck out twice, the last time with the bases full. The Baltimore Orioles beat the New York Yankees 1 to 0.

Jack Bentley, the Orioles' star pitcher, fanned Babe in the third inning, crossing him with a curve when the home-run king was looking for a straight ball. In the fourth he was out on an easy grounder. In the sixth, O'Brien passed him, and in the eighth, with three Yanks on the bases, and Babe's home town crowd with tense excitement, Harry Frank slipped over a third strike.

Tonight, however, Babe produced another sort of "home." At a mass meeting in the Fifth regiment armory for the benefit of St. Mary's Industrial school, where Ruth learned baseball, he made a speech and wrote his check for $2,500 to help place the building destroyed by fire.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR W. A. WILLIAMS TO BE HELD TODAY

Funeral services for William A. Williams, 35 years of age, a pattern maker for the benefit of St. Mary's Industrial school, who died Wednesday afternoon at Chattahoochee valley, near Hills park, with a bullet hole in his head, will be held this afternoon at 3 o'clock from the Chapel of Greater Hope. Burial will be in Oakland cemetery.

Mr. Williams had been in bad health for some time. Surviving him are his widow; his father, C. W. Williams; four brothers, E. J. C. W. R. M. and T. D. Williams, and two sisters, Misses Ella and Mary Williams.

IMPORTANT MEETING LOCAL CHAPTER, D. A. R.

A call meeting of the Joseph H. H. chapter, D. A. R., will be held in the lecture room of St. Mark's church, Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Questions of importance will be discussed and all members are urged to attend.

MEETING IS PLANNED FOR POTATO GROWERS

Southern sweet potato growers who are interested in the extensive campaign for nation-wide advertisement of that food product will hold a meeting in Memphis, September 27 and 28, for discussing the methods of proceeding with the campaign. The movement to place the southern sweet potato before all the principal markets throughout the country was organized some months ago and work along this line has been steadily progressing.

It is expected that a large attendance of southern growers, as well as market men, will attend this meeting. Plans for marketing the present crop will be formulated and discussion upon the competition with the enormous Irish potato crop is to be taken up.

Australia has a movement on foot for the preservation of its gigantic "at-bark" trees, which are the tallest in the world.

The invention of a Nebraska man is a machine for making round bales of hay, bound with twine instead of wire, which are claimed to be much easier handled than square bales.

The war is over and war prices must go. Effective at once, Ford cars, trucks and tractors will be sold, f. o. b. Detroit, at the following prices:

Touring, regular	$440
Touring, with starter	$510
Runabout, regular	$395
Runabout, with starter	$465
Chassis	$360
Coupe, with starter and demountable rims	$745
Sedan, with starter and demountable rims	$795
Truck with pneumatic tires	$545
Tractor	$790

THESE PRICES F. O. B. DETROIT

The Ford Motor Company makes this reduction in face of the fact that they have on hand immediate orders for 146,065 cars and tractors. The company will suffer a temporary loss while using the material bought at high prices. They are willing to make the sacrifice in order to bring business back to a going condition as quickly as possible and maintain the momentum of the buying power of the country. Henry Ford says: "The war is over and it is time that war prices were over. There is no sense or wisdom in trying to maintain an artificial standard of values. For the best interest of all it is time a real practical effort was made to bring the business of the country and the life of the country down to regular prewar standards."

We are at your command with regular Ford efficiency in service and eagerness to fill your orders.
